

Please replace current Abstract with the following heading and paragraph

Abstract

This invention will link an extension phone to a wireless telephonic device.

The linked extension will obtain functions and call cost of the cell phone. An extension phone will afford cell phone user for greater access to the cell phone, ability to add on additional electronic devices, ability to personalize the behavior of the extension phone to mimic that of the cell phone (ringing signal), and the ability to hold multi-person conversations.

Clarification Of Terminology

“Skyrider” is a name given to the whole patent, covering both the various types of extension phones, and docking cell phone and the docking unit itself.